PRESS RADIO HITS THE AIR TOMORROW

Big Program of Entertainment Begins at 7:30 p. m.

MAYOR TO DEDICATE Brunswick and Ampico to Give Musical Numbers

Hello, hello, hello! This is Radio KFAC, the Glendale
Daily Press radio phone, Glendale, California.
This may be heard by the ardent listener or radio fan tomorrow evening between 7:30 and 8:30 o'clock. What does it mean? It means that the new broadcasting station of Glendale will puncture the ether at the time stated, with one of the most wonderful programs to date. The station will be officially dedicated by Glendale's
"singing mayor," Spencer Robinson.
After rendering the oration, Mayor Robinson will favor the thousands of fans with a vocal selection entitled, "Believe Me, if All Those Endearing Young Charms." The balance of the program is just as wonderful, and the complete lineup will be published in tomorrow night's paper.

This station will begin each of its programs, in the future, with a selection on the Brunswick, furnished through the courtesy of the Glendale Phonograph company.
The purpose of giving the phonograph selection first, is that it enables the operator to make all necessary adjustments, as the phonograph furnishes the steadiest and loudest music. Each and every program will be brought to a close with a selection on the Ampico, which is furnished through the courtesy of the Glendale Music company.

By all means, don't miss the program tomorrow night, or any night after the station is in operation. If you haven't a set, borrow one or go to a friend's house, but under no circumstances miss this program. Watch for complete schedule of Radio KFAC and program in tomorrow night's Daily Press, as the Press is the only paper which will have the details.

MERCHANTS' TEAM MEETS ITS FIRST DEFEAT

Trimmed by the Talbert Whiting Team in a Shut-out Game

The unexpected happened yesterday. The Talbert Whiting bal-team defeated the Merchants in a shutout game. The score was 2 to 0. The Merchants just could not hit in the pinches. Jack Kearns, on the mound for Glendale, pitched a good game of ball. King played his usual steady game behind the plate.

This is the first time that Glendale has been defeated this season.
The Talbert Whiting team is rated as one of the fastest and hardest hitting semi-pro teams in Los Angeles, and to meet defeat at the hands of this aggregation of pasttimers is no disgrace.

Several times during the game the Glendale team seemed on the point of putting a run across.
Something always happened and the locals could not get the runner across the pan.

The score by innings follows:
T. Whiting... 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0
Merchants... 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0

PIONEER ORGAN BUILDER DIES

Miss Judson Harris of Glendale, His Sister, Receives Sad News

Miss Judson Harris of 138 North Belmont street is in receipt of word telling of the death of her brother, Murray M. Harris, of 685 South Coronado street, Los Angeles. Mr. Harris was on a brief business trip to Parker, Ariz., and death came very suddenly. He was the pioneer of pipe-organ builders on the coast, and was well known, having a host of friends here. Funeral services will be at the grave, Forest Lawn memorial park, 4:30 Tuesday afternoon.

THE WEATHER
Southern California: Tonight and Tuesday, fair, except foggy near coast tonight and in morning.
Los Angeles and vicinity: Partly cloudy and moderately warm tonight and Tuesday.

Affirmation and Not Negation Is Making Progress of the World

"It is not enough to say,
'this day have I done no one harm.' It is necessary to say,
'this day I have done one useful service.' By affirmation we prove faith. By negation we deny purpose," according to James W. Foley, tonight, in The Listening Post.

"Life," says he, "is a thing of affirmation, not of negation.
It is a positive thing not a negative thing. The progress of the world has been accomplished through action, not inaction. Thus in his philosophical manner does the poet-humanist impress upon the readers of this paper a great truth this evening. It will be worth your while to turn to The Listening Post and read what he has to say.

You will also find on the editorial page, four very splendid editorials, Dr. Frank Crane's article on "Germany, France and England; Henry James' comment on the day's news; John Pilgrim's Watching the Parade; Della Stewart's Just Between Ourselves, poetry, scientific facts, paragraphs,
eastern point of view, truths in epigram and something about a new electric converter, which is of scientific import.
It's a good editorial page, carefully edited and compiled for your edification and pleasure.

HIGH SCHOOL BONDS SOLD AT PREMIUM

$600,000 Issue for New Plant, Sold At Par on Accrued Interest

The entire $600,000 high school bond issue, voted on May 2, was sold this morning in the office of the county board of supervisors. There were several bidders present.
The successful firm was the William R. Staats company.
The successful bidder offered par value for the bonds, accrued interest and a premium of $23,580.

H. W. Yarrick of Glendale represented the Glendale high school board of trustees at the opening of bids and authorized the sale of the bonds to the Staats company.

VACATIONS START IN CITY HALL

Vacations are the order of the day at the city hall. The first of those who are entitled to time off, have departed on their brief stays in the hills, or at the seashore, while those who are still on the job are looking forward to the time when they, too, will be a-headed
"away from the office."

Wilmot J. McIntyre, generally known as "Bunny," was not in his usual chair in the engineering department this morning. Someone said he had gone to the beach. He will spend a week, taking short trips around the nearby country, and will take the other week that is coming to him some time next month.

The following employees of the public service department are each enjoying two weeks away from work:

C. J. Chisholm, of 825 East Maple street, and James P. Drake of 1015 Roberta, are enjoying a trip in the Santa Ynez country. They are bagging all the trout in sight and expect to bring home enough for their friends and neighbors.

Harry Williams, of West Harvard street, and E. A. Hartman, have motored down to Imperial valley, where they will pass two weeks reducing by the "perspiration method."

Gregg O. Wilbur, construction foreman, has gone after big game.
He left in the trusty little flivver for the high Sierras, where he will hunt bear—real, genuine bear.
Gregg says bear meat will be plentiful upon his return to civilization.

The "coppers," too, are having their share of the good time.
Officers R. L. McLean, of 745 East Wilson, has been sojourning for the past two weeks at Catalina, and other seaside resorts of this section. While at the "Magic Isle" he caught several "whoppers," and his companions on the police force are bracing themselves for some real fish stories. He'll be on the job again tomorrow morning.

Officer C. E. Epps, of 1513 East Wilson, is now enjoying the recuperative breezes of the pines and incidentally is bagging a few trout. He will return July 1.

ENGINES ANSWER GRASS FIRE CALL

The Glendale fire department responded to a call from the corner of Fourth and Linden streets at 6:45 Saturday evening. The cause of the trouble was a grass fire, which was quickly extinguished.

TO BREAK GROUND FOR CLUB HOUSE

sion are Mayor Spencer Robinson, include a solo by Mrs. Virginia Freeman; Mayor Robinson will respond to a toast on "Women in the Civic Life"; V. M. Hollister will give a toast on "The Clubwoman in the Business World"; a talk by Roy L. Kent on "A Clubwoman in the Home"; Rev. Calderwood's subject is "Clubwomen in the World of Affairs." Mrs. Urquhart will bring a word from the district, after which, at 3:30, they will adjourn to the new clubhouse location for the ground-breaking ceremony.

This will be opened by community singing, the Loomis-Shuck Music company furnishing the music. The past president, Mrs.
Hutchinson, will break the ground for the new clubhouse. Mayor Robinson will dedicate it for civic use, and Mr. Watson and Mr.
Cowan will dedicate it for art and music. The installation of officers for the coming year will then take place, with Mrs. Urquhart in charge. The closing number will be a community sing.

STRANGE DOG ATTACKS CHILD

Son of R. C. Phillips Is Bitten by Animal Roaming Unmuzzled

The young son of R. C. Phillips, 404 West Oak street, was badly bitten by a dog at the Phillips home Saturday evening. The youngster, who is but six and one-half years old, was helpless before the canine, and his injuries would have been much greater had it not been for the prompt assistance of his father. The dog was unmuzzled and running wild. He entered the yard where the boy was playing and immediately attacked him.
The little fellow's injuries were given medical treatment by Dr.
Kaemmerling yesterday morning.

EAGLE ROCK MISS GETS BADLY LOST

Little Frances Miller, aged six years, created considerable excitement Saturday night by "losing herself." At 9:15 o'clock the Eagle Rock police notified the Glendale and Los Angeles police departments, whereupon a general search was instituted. The good news of the finding of the little child was circulated at 9:45. The Los Angeles police had located her. It developed that Frances had attended a picnic at Brookside park during the day, and had taken the wrong truck "home."

TRAFFIC VIOLATOR IS ARRESTED HERE

J. P. Crossley of Los Angeles was arrested at 1:15 yesterday afternoon by Glendale police on a charge of violating the traffic ordinance. He was released on $10 bail.

RUMOR HERRICK WILL WED IS REVIVED

Despite repeated denials, the rumor persists in Paris that Myron T.
Herrick, American ambassador to France, is to wed Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of the late J. Pierpont Morgan. Miss Morgan is living in Paris and is often seen with Mr. Herrick, who is a widower.

400 BUILDING LEGION'S DRIVE OPERATIONS IN GLENDALE FOR MEMBERS OPENS

Superintendent Spaulding Reports on Construction Work in City

There are more than 400 dwellings and business houses in course of construction in Glendale at the present time, according to figures given out this morning by Building Superintendent Spaulding. This is a pretty good answer for the question, "is Glendale growing?" The fact is there were never more buildings in course of construction in Glendale at any one time than there is right now.

During the month of April 237 building permits were issued, these having a valuation of $1,022,699.
In May the valuation of the 164 permits issued was $362,545. Thus far during June the valuation of the 150 building permits is $252, 158.

AUTO ACCIDENTS OF WEEK-END

Automobile accidents were plentiful in Glendale over the week-end.
Although no one was killed or injured, there was a general bending of tin, all of which makes business good for the garage man.

A machine driven by Leon Francard of 1419 South San Fernando road, and a machine belonging to C. R. Carpenter, 608 Milford street, collided on the San Fernando road yesterday afternoon.
When Carpenter cranked his Ford the emergency brake refused to hold, and the machine plowed its way into the back of the Francard machine.

Machines operated by C. L.
Browning of 1851 Wawona street,
Los Angeles, and G. W. Holmes of 439 Patterson, tried to cover the same point on West Broadway at the same time, the result being that there was something doing.
Although the damage was small,
the excitement was great.

N. W. Hollenbeck, sanitary inspector of Glendale, living at 125 North Belmont street, and a machine driven by A. C. Fenno of Tujunga, came together at the corner of Broadway and Wilson at 5 o'clock last night. Hollenbeck was driving north of Brand while the Fenno machine was going east on Wilson.
Somehow the traffic signals got all tangled up—and so did the machines.

Morris L. Gilmore of this city, and J. E. Tollette of 111 South boulevard, were operating machines that lost their way on Brand boulevard, at 4:50 Saturday evening. Little damage was done and no one was hurt.

Richard E. Schwarzkoff of 1725 Gardena avenue, reported that a machine, the driver of which is unknown, ran him down at the corner of Glendale avenue and Colorado street at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The damage was slight.

SEEKS WOMAN SMUGGLER
CHICAGO, June 26.—Charles Salter, head of the United States treasury office in Seattle, is on a coast-to-coast trail of a wealthy Pacific coast woman, reported to have smuggled a necklace valued at $100,000 into the United States through San Francisco.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES DRIVE ON

Knights of Columbus Open Work With Banquet Tonight

TO AID L. A. POOR
Bureau Seeks $50,000 for Funds to Extend Its Operations

The local Knights of Columbus chapter will start its Catholic Charities campaign for $50,000 at a dinner and meeting tonight at Ye White inn, 223 South Brand Boulevard. The bureau of Catholic charities is putting on a drive under the supreme directorship of Right Rev. J. J. Canwell, D.D., director general; Rev. Robert E.
Lucy, D.D., and John T. McBean, campaign director.

The bureau of Catholic charities is a diocesan office, directed by the right reverend bishop to care for,
in a systematic and orderly manner, orphans, abandoned and destitute children, juvenile delinquents, poor immigrants, families in distress, pre-tubercular children, and the poor who cannot pay for medical examination and treatment. The work of the bureau is divided into four departments—
child welfare, family welfare, immigrant welfare, and correctional work.

It is caring for children in nine counties of this diocese, and it has had cases from practically every state in the Union, and from the Philippine islands.

The bureau is expending monthly for the care of children $5500, which includes state aid, county aid, whatever the relatives can afford to give, and supplementary aid from the bureau. The bureau actually expends from its own funds $1800 monthly for the board of poor children.

The organization is doing a wonderful work. It has under its supervision 1200 children, and does not refuse help on account of race or religion. The parish sends clothing and groceries to families where temporary relief is needed.
The correctional department of the bureau takes under its protection children who have become delinquent or who are in danger of moral or physical harm. It places these children in a wholesome atmosphere and watches over them until the danger is past. The bureau has also succeeded in reducing the number of Catholic children appearing in juvenile court for trial 50 per cent.

For immigrant welfare, the bureau maintains two settlements and two clinics. It employs two resident matrons, two trained nurses, a field secretary and a boys' supervisor, to work among our foreign population. It conducts classes in sewing and music, and maintains two clubs and three baseball teams for the young men.
It is the duty of every man, woman and child to stand back of this bureau in the good work they are doing.

BIG FISH PARTY GETS BARACUDA

Nine of the leading anglers of Glendale made a "killing" on the albino and baracuda of the Pacific ocean yesterday. When they returned home last night they brought with them three albino and 43 baracuda, showing that they had a little better than the usual fisherman's luck.

This party of Isaac Walton's, it left Glendale Saturday night. It went to Long Beach, where the launch was chartered and the trip to Catalina made by moonlight.
Saturday night was passed at Catalina and bright and early Sunday morning the launch and its fishing artists hit for the deep water.
Rights of the jump the three albi-nos were caught. Vernon Wilson caught the largest fish, this being a 25-pounder. The "other two weighed about 25 pounds each.
The largest of the 43 baracuda was brought in by A. J. Sullivan, although each of the boys got his share.

The following members of the party are employees of the local Ford agency: R. E. Baxter, E. J.
Flaherty, Hubert Graham, Robert
Rogers, John Root, A. J. Sullivan, Carl Wells, Vernon Wilson, Richard Blake, G. A. Lavison and Mark Garwood. Those of the party are not employed at the Ford garage were Dr. Vance, Finley, Harvey Clark, Harry Mair, O. W. Rhoades, Mr. Jennings, Mr. Winters, Mr.
Gibbons and Mr. Pixley.

"DOMESTIC SILENCE" CHICAGO, June 26.—"Domestic silence" courses were recommended here as a means of solving the divorce evil by Rev. John Norris Hall. They should be taken by both bride and groom.

KANKAKEE, Ill., June 26.
Mrs. Len Small, wife of Illinois' governor, died today of illness as a result of her husband's acquittal of the charge of embezzling the state's funds.

Highjacker Is Bootlegger's Pet Parasite

HIGHJACKER IS
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., June 26.—"Highjackers" are more feared by bootleggers than prohibition agents.
"Highjacker" is the underworld name for crooks who prey upon crooks, in this case upon those dealing in illicit booze.

For example, the "high-jacker" will learn that a certain bootlegger is planning to bring in a truckload of booze on a certain night.

The "highjacker" gets a truck, holds him up on the highway, and takes his cargo away from him, knowing, of course, that the bootlegger can hardly appeal to the police.
Thus he feels fairly safe.
Or perhaps he will learn where the bootlegger has his liquor stored, in which case he will conduct a raid of his own, and remove it.

Bootleggers are afraid of "highjackers" because the latter are usually ex-convicts, and are not afraid to shoot on slight provocation. Prohibition agents, on the other hand, seldom use their revolvers, and never except in case of last resort.
Numerous times lately when raids have been conducted, bootleggers have shot at the officers, later explaining that they thought they were being held up by "highjackers."

CIVIC NOTE TO BE KEY AT BANQUET

Pacific Avenue Methodist Brother Meeting Is Popular

The limit has been reached as to reservations for the banquet at the Pacific Avenue Community Methodist church, Tuesday evening, June 27, at 6:30 o'clock. However, the auditorium will seat several hundred, and men and women of adult age are cordially invited to attend.

The program will be interesting and informal. Supervisor Wright will be the principal speaker on the subject, "Cooperation in City and County Government." Mayor Spencer Robinson will sing, and we expect other musical numbers.
City Manager Reeves, Councilmen Stephenson and Lapham will also be present, with several others from the city hall.

The meeting is under the auspices of the brotherhood of the Pacific Avenue church. The object of the meeting is an informal getting together of the heads of the city government and the county supervisor of this district with other noted men of this city, to discuss anything that would be of value to Glendale as a whole. The object will not be political or sectional, so far as the good of Glendale is concerned.

Rev. Harley G. Preston, pastor of the church, states that no one asked him to plan such a meeting, but that, inasmuch as he had previously arranged for Supervisor Wright to speak to the brotherhood, as an after consideration he thought it would be a good plan to work it out according to the present plan.

The church is located at Pacific avenue and Harvard, and the banquet will be served by the ladies of the church and community at 6:30 o'clock, to those who have spoken for reservations. Mr. Preston states he is sorry no more capacity having been reached.
However, the auditorium will be open to all men and women desiring to come, the meeting there beginning at 8 o'clock.

DRUNKEN DRIVER IS ARRESTED HERE

H. P. Blackstock of L. A.
Found to Be Intoxicated
at Wheel

H. P. Blackstock of Los Angeles was arrested at 4:25 Sunday morning by Officers Snyder and La Rock for driving through the streets of Glendale in a reckless manner.
After being taken to the police station he was examined by Dr.
Joseph Marple, 215 West Palmer avenue, who stated that the offender had been drinking, and to all intent and purposes was drunk.

On order of Judge Lowe he was confined in station No. 2 pending deposit of $300 bail, which up to this morning he had been unable to furnish. When arrested, Blackstock was driving a Hudson machine, in which a bottle of whiskey was found. The woman who accompanied Blackstock on the wild ride was released.

DR. D. W. HUNT IS FATALY STRICKEN

Pioneer of Glendale, Dean of Medical Men Here, Dies

ILL A SHORT TIME
Was First Health Officer of the Early Settlers Here

The many friends of Dr. D. Winslow Hunt will be saddened to know of his sudden death Sunday evening at his home, 644 West Myrtle street. Dr. Hunt was 76 years of age and took sick about twelve weeks ago, making a call the day he was taken ill. He died of heart trouble.

His family had noticed how especially bright and happy he seemed on Friday. He seemed so much better Sunday, and was so peaceful and happy until about 4 o'clock, when he seemed to get worse. The end came quietly and peacefully, with his beloved wife and daughter at his side.

Dr. Hunt was born in New Hampshire, and the Hunt family came to Glendale in 1900, making their home at that time at Wilson and Belmont street. Dr. Hunt had practiced 55 years and was the first health officer Glendale ever had. He was a graduate of Ann Arbor, Mich., and a member of St.
Mark's Episcopal church at Glendale. He served as hospital doctor in the Civil war and was an active member, up until recent years, in both the Masonic and Elks lodges.
For several years he served as the examining physician for the Fraternal Brotherhood.

He was president of the first improvement association ever formed in Glendale, and was one of the first directors of the old Bank of Glendale. Dr. Hunt had the distinction of owning the first automobile in Glendale. He was active in building the first high school here,
and it was he who offered the suggestion to form the Glendale high school district as it now exists.
Among the many features "put over" by his assistance was the bringing of the Pacific Electric to Glendale.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Susan C.
Hunt, and daughter, Miss Dorothy Hunt, he leaves four brothers, Rev.
Theodore Hunt of Riverside, Rev.
Sherman Hunt of North Dakota,
Dr. F. N. Hunt of Fairmont, Minn., Rev. Eugene Hunt of Minnesota, and two sisters, Miss Etta Hunt of Boston and Mrs. William Milliken of Oakland, and a nephew, Dr.
Roscoe Hunt, also of Minnesota, who, with Dr. F. N. Hunt, has a hospital and they work in partnership.

Funeral arrangements have not been made but are awaiting arrival of relatives from the east.
Pulliam, Kiefer & Eyerick are in charge.

DISABLED VETS' WELFARE KEYNOTE OF CONVENTION

Gather at Bay City for Big Meeting to Voice Needs

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.— Welfare of disabled soldiers was to be the big issue at the national convention of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, which convened here today.

Col. Charles R. Forbes, head of the government bureau in charge of veterans' welfare, was here,
to meet any attacks. "There has been no maladministration of the national veterans' bureau," Col.
Forbes declared. "I will be glad to give any information that is requested, and to answer any questions pertaining to the bureau that are asked." The money under my jurisdiction has been properly and efficiently spent, and I bring to California a clean bill of health for the United States veterans' bureau. I am very much afraid that certain men have come here to make charges against me, who are unprepared with facts concerning the bureau. I am not answerable for the sins of my forefathers."

MISS HICKMAN IS INSTALLATION OF CONNER-NERN UNITED TO FRANK PORTER STEARNS MRS. CAMPBELL TO CLIMAX WORK NUPTIALS ARE HELD

Nuptials Take Place at the Home of Her Sister

Miss Cora Bailey Hickman and Frank Porter Stearns were married Saturday afternoon at 4:30 at the home of her sister, Mrs. Adelaide Imler, 336 West Park avenue, Rev. C. R. Norton, an old friend of the family, officiated.

The bride was charming in a beautiful gown of apricot charmeuse satin, and carried a bouquet of pink and white sweetpeas. The single ring ceremony was used. Immediately following the ceremony a wedding supper was served to the friends and relatives who witnessed the ceremony.

New Executive of Tuesday Club Rounding Out 12 Years of Activity

In its new president, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, who takes office tomorrow, the Tuesday Afternoon club has one who has been actively associated with its interests from its infancy. In conversation a few days ago, she recalled the visit of its first president, Mrs. Cora Taylor, who called upon her in the summer of 1903, in company with the Misses Penn, now residents of England, to congratulate her on the birth of her son Arthur, and to invite her to join the organization. Other groups came with the same invitation, but feeling that her family demanded all her time, Mrs. Campbell did not join until 1910, when Mrs. Gridley, now Mrs. John Hyde Braly, was president. It was the same year that Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, the retiring president became a member, and the two have been congenial friends and workers ever since. In 1911 she became a member of the program committee, and in 1912-13 was its chairman. The two years following she served as chairman of hospitality. During the two subsequent years she was first vice-president and chairman of ways and means.

By that time the United States had entered the world war and the women of the country were all enrolling for Red Cross work. Mrs. Campbell organized the club's war work section and had the pleasure of teaching many women to knit, who later turned in dozens of pairs of socks, sweaters and mufflers.

But Mrs. Campbell also believed in keeping up the courage and physical vigor of the women she worked with, so they would be prepared for whatever might come, and so they had decorations and a physical culture class at the Y. W. C. A. in Los Angeles. Her philosophy was expressed in the little fable she wrote about that time, which ran something like this:

"Sure we'll do our bit
As we sew and knit
For our soldiers and sailors so true,
But we've got to keep fit
Less our duty we shrink—
Should the call come for me and for you."

So after we've worked hard,
We'll play different games,
To steady our nerves
And strengthen our frames.

We'll think so much clearer,
Be happier, too,
In housework, in church work,
Whatever we do;
We'll not be a burden,
For we'll learn to keep Our health good, our shape good,
And just what to eat;
So if Uncle Sam
Should need us some day
We'll be ready for action
And help peace on its way."

The activities of the section were looked after by committees on knitting, sewing, first aid, food value talks, correspondence and cheer, purchasing materials, gifts, recreation, luncheons, transportation, and physical culture.

In 1918 Mrs. Campbell was a member of the ways and means committee, but in 1920-21 she felt she was entitled to a Sabbath of rest and was just a member without serving on any of the standing committees. The past year she has been the head of finance for the building committee, and has found it a task of no small magnitude.

During all these years she has been repeatedly asked to be a candidate for the presidency, but has never felt the time was right for acceptance of the call until now. Her service has made her thoroughly acquainted with all the problems of the club, and she has the faculty of securing the affection and working cooperation of those associated with her in any enterprise. Though a strenuous 12 months are ahead of the organization, a brilliantly successful year which will place the club on a par with the big clubs of Southern California, is predicted for her administration.

BUSINESS WOMEN TO PICNIC TUESDAY

This is certain to be a delightful outing. Supper will be served at 6:30. The car leave Glendale station at 5:25, 5:50 and 6:05 p. m.

First Methodist Church Is Scene of Beautiful Function, Sunday

One of the most beautiful weddings of the season was that of Miss Helen Isabel Conner to Rodney E. Nern, which was celebrated yesterday at the Central avenue Methodist church. The ceremony was read by Rev. Y. Hunter Brink, assisted by Rev. T. H. Allen, of Burbank, and Rev. J. W. Jennings, of Azusa.

The church was elaborately decorated with white carnations, shasta daisies and magnolia blossoms, intertwined in pepper boughs. The chancel was banked with flowers and potted palms, and directly in the center was an arch, under which the bride party stood.

The bride was stunning in a gown of lace and ivory satin, with the prevailing long waistline. The groom wore a tuxedo, with a coronet of orange blossoms and pearls, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and white sweetpeas.

Miss Helen Ingledue, the maid of honor, wore a frock of silver lace, and carried a bouquet of roses and sweetpeas.

The attendants were the Misses Alta Bowen, Muriel Bowen and Jewell Gardner of Glendale, and Miss Pauline Allen, of Burbank. They were gowned in orchid pastel shades, and wore picture hats to match. They carried bouquets of lavender sweetpeas and pink carnations.

Little Mary Estelle Leonard, of Burbank, was the flower girl, carrying the ring concealed in the heart of a magnolia blossom.

Eugene F. Conner, of Ann Arbor, Mich., brother of the bride, was best man; and the ushers were the Messrs. Elwood Ingledue, Albert Hewitt, Ray Fisher of Burbank, and Edward Clauson, of Upland. The bride's father gave her away.

Mrs. Gertrude West played the wedding march, and Mrs. Lorena Foster sang "I Love You Truly," immediately preceding the ceremony.

There were many guests from out of town, including Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Nern, parents of the groom, of Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the charming new home of the bride and groom, at 611 East Chestnut street. Here the same color scheme of green and white was carried out in the decorations and in the refreshments. There was a gorgeous wedding cake, surmounted by a miniature bride and groom. The friends of the newly married couple were given an opportunity to view the many and beautiful gifts with which they had been showered.

Among the presents which they received was a very handsome dining-room suite from the groom's parents; and a chest of silver from her brother.

The bride is a very talented musician and has traveled all over the United States and Canada with her father and mother, as singing chorists and entertainers. They are known everywhere as the Conner trio. The groom, formerly of Fort Wayne, Indiana, is now engaged in the real estate business in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Nern left at 7:30 o'clock for San Diego and Old Mexico.

THE DAMONS GIVE DAINTY PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. George Damon, 1001 South Central avenue, entertained at dinner recently Mr. and Mrs. Dickerson, of Los Angeles. During the evening other guests came in and cards and music were enjoyed. They included Mr. and Mrs. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Stelmer and Mrs. Bert Smith of Los Angeles, Mrs. Ruth VanCourt and daughter Doris.

MRS. E. B. STARKWEATHER HONORS MOTHER'S BIRTHDAY Mrs. E. B. Starkweather of 414 East Wilson street entertained recently in honor of her mother's, Mrs. Mary Gifford's, 82nd birthday. The room was artistically decorated with red and white carnations and dainty hand-painted place-cards were used to mark the places of the guests. Those present were Mrs. L. T. Clover, Mrs. Catherine Moore, Mrs. Deers, Mrs. Toine, Mrs. Campbell and Miss Nettie Campbell, and the guest of honor, Mrs. Gifford, and the hostess, Mrs. Starkweather. Later in the afternoon a delicious course of refreshments was served by the hostess. A very delightful social afternoon was enjoyed by all.

We shall never know how much good there is in men until some dark day falls on us all.

ELECTRICITY AS AID TO INSULAGE

Preliminary trials of preserving green forage by electricity after a method worked out in Germany have been conducted at the University of California farm by F. W. Wolf, professor of animal nutrition, and A. H. Hoffman, assistant professor of agricultural engineering. The method employed bids fair to become of considerable importance to stockmen in any country where cheap electric current is available.

Electrical current of medium voltage was conducted through layers of cut green forage that is tramped down solidly in insulated containers, something like modern silo structures, until a temperature of about 140 degrees is reached in the mass. In the University of California experiments the current was conducted through green alfalfa and green oatmeal, both cut at an early stage of growth and placed in three trial cement cylinders. One of the cylinders was opened one month after the treatment and the other two after two months. The contents were found to be in excellent condition with only a small amount of waste around the edge of the cover. It was of light brown color and had a very slight silage odor. The feed was eaten by cattle with apparent relish and without waste.

Further studies of this electrical method of forage preservation will be made with a view to determining its merits and practical value under the conditions present in this state.

METHODISTS HOLD PICNIC AT PARK

Rev. Preston Leads Sunday School to Brookside in Big Truck

The Pacific Avenue Methodist Sunday school held a picnic at Brookside park last Saturday, which was a splendid success, as stated by Rev. Harley G. Preston, pastor of the church.

Going over on a big truck, the boys and girls, led by Mr. Preston, gave a yell after yell, hoisting the Sunday school and Glendale, and while going through Eagle Rock and Brookside, they claim, they sure put Glendale on the map, as far, at least, as that kind of publicity is concerned.

Also, when passing down Broadway and Grand, they gave some more yells. While all of the folks are a little hoarse, they feel that in boostin Glendale and, incidentally, their school, it was effort well spent.

EPWORTH LEAGUE PICNIC TONIGHT

Pacific Ave. Methodists to Have Luncheon Tonight at Echo Park

This was the last teacup hour of the season. They have been very successful and will be resumed in the fall.

The Epworth league is planning several social events for this summer, however, to which all young folks of this community, who are not booked elsewhere, will be invited.

Cantilever Shoe

Shoes Your Feet Aren't Forced to Fit

There are shoes that require your feet to fit them; and there are shoes fashioned to fit your feet. To secure your correct fit, you don't have to buy a model that seems homely to you, but you do need a shoe with a natural inner sole line and a snug heel seat.

The Cantilever Shoe is a good-looking shoe in which you can obtain a fit better than you have had before. It possesses a flexible arch, a Cantilever gives just the support there you need. No steel shank-piece connects between soles restricts the natural flexibility of your foot nor compels your arch to fit the shank of the shoe. The flexible Cantilever arch conforms to the shape of the foot, and the height of the foot arch varies greatly in different feet. The same shoe, and only in a shoe with a flexible shank can you be sure of proper fit and support.

This year, use this easy method of home canning

To can ASPARAGUS the easy Lorain way

Scald 10 to 15 minutes. Dip in cold water. Cut into convenient sizes. Pack tight in jars. Season to taste. Fill jar with boiling water. Add 1 teaspoon salt (for quart jar). Place scalded rubbers in position and adjust lids loosely. Put jars in oven. Set Lorain regulator at 250 degrees; set alarm clock for two hours. Leave the hot kitchen, and when alarm rings, remove jars from oven and seal tightly. That's all!

WHY endure the heat and hard work of canning the old-fashioned way? You can put up all the fruits and vegetables you like, without standing over a scorching stove, without lifting heavy kettles, or suffering the other discomforts of the old method.

The Lorain Oven Heat Regulator, an attachment of gas ranges, makes the task of home canning unbelievably simple and easy. Fruits and vegetables are cooked in their jars, in the oven. They keep their color, firmness, and fresh-from-the-garden taste far better than when canned any other way.

Read the recipe for putting up asparagus the Lorain way. Everything else is canned as easily! Plan now to take advantage of this wonderful method.

Ask us for a free copy of "Lorain Oven Canning," and let us demonstrate Lorain canning and cooking to you in our store. Do it now!

LORAIN OVEN HEAT REGULATOR

The Lorain Oven Heat Regulator is an attachment of gas range ovens. It automatically keeps your oven at any one of 44 different temperatures.

Simply set the "red wheel" for any heat you want. Changes in gas pressure, etc., do not affect the oven temperature.

DIRECT ACTION Gas Ranges

You put your baking directly into the cold Direct Action oven. You do not light the burner until the baking is in because the oven heats almost instantaneously. This means a saving of time and gas as there is no wait to preheat the oven. You can do this with a Direct Action because of the open oven construction, with its absence of heavy oven bottoms and flue walls which, in other stoves, have to be heated before the oven is ready for the baking.

REV. ISAAC TELLS ARTISTS LEAVE ON PAINTING TRIP OF GEOGRAPHY OF HEAVEN IN SIERRAS

Congregational Church Is Thronged at Day and Evening Services

Rev. E. Morgan Isaacs, of the Congregational church, spoke on the Geography of Heaven at the morning services. In the evening a motion picture entitled, "Frozen Thrills" was shown, and Rev. Isaacs answered the following questions: (1) Do you think it is morally right to kill animals for their flesh as meat? (2) Why did you not say something of men's eating suits as well as women's last Sunday night? (3) What is your opinion of the four "fundamentals," namely: the deity of Christ, the infallibility of the bible, the atonement, the second coming of Christ? (4) What constitutes a religious life? (5) Do you think another meat will be arranged between Dempsey and Willard? (6) What would happen if Henry Ford became president of the United States? (7) If a wife discovers her husband's love has grown cold, how can she win him again? (8) What is the cause of nervousness? (9) Are the labor unions a help or a hindrance to labor? (10) Are not the young people of today irreligious and irreverent? If so, why?

Former Member of U. of So. Cal. Faculty Preaches

Rev. W. T. Gilliland, formerly of the faculty of the university of Southern California, preached at the Methodist church yesterday in place of Dr. Hedley, who is away on his vacation. Dr. Gilliland is now superintendent of the La Jolla community center at Los Angeles. His subject for the morning was "What the Methodist Church is doing for the Latin-Americans of Los Angeles." He gave a very interesting description of the work of the church in the city, and the incidents to illustrate the work of the church. He said that the church is doing a great deal of work in the city, and that the church is doing a great deal of work in the city, and that the church is doing a great deal of work in the city.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones to Entertain Her Officers

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music club, entertained the board of directors of the club at a delightful dinner on Friday evening in the grill room of the Casa Verdugo cafe.

The table was beautifully decorated in white, Matilajah poppies being used. A green rug covered the floor, which gave a cooling atmosphere to the surroundings. After dinner, a very important business meeting was held in which they voted to call a special meeting of the club and change their meeting time from the first Friday to the first Thursday in the month. Plans were discussed for their membership drive and the churches materially aided in this drive by making announcements on Sunday from their pulpits.

CIR - CARN - A - SHO

Legionnaires of Bird Rock City Drew Big Audience to Benefit

Cir-Carn-a-Sho? Eliminate the question mark! Everyone now knows that it was a circus, carnival and show—such a one as only the legion could have staged. It took the town by storm. Everyone from the oldest inhabitant to the newest arrival, was there; and there was something to amuse everyone, from grandfather down to the baby.

There were hot god stands, pink lemonade, hot peanuts and popcorn booths, balloon vendors crying their wares, barkers bally-hooing the crowd and clowns wandering around, giving the atmosphere that is never lacking to the sawdust ring. Then there were gypsy fortune tellers and flower vendors supplying the carnival colour.

MERCHANTS' TEAM ISSUES WARNING

Phony Advertising Solicitors Are About City, Says Manager

John A. Cobb, of the Glendale Merchants, issued a warning today to all business men and women of Glendale, to give no donations nor buy advertising from anyone representing himself as an agent of the local baseball club, unless he has the proper credentials to solicit such aid. Such credentials will have to be signed by Manager Cobb, himself.

A man has been canvassing the city selling advertising on the plea that it is to help the local baseball team. Several merchants have subscribed to the scheme. In his warning against this man to the public, Cobb said today: "I have not, nor will I authorize anyone to solicit funds for the baseball club. I will handle the securing of the necessary funds myself. That is what killed baseball in Glendale once before. The team will be run on the square this year, or it won't be run at all."

TRAINING AT DAVIS

Young people of California who desire to increase their earning power, but who do not care to pursue a regular college course, will be interested in the announcement of the non-degree curriculum just issued by the University of California, College of Agriculture. The non-degree curriculum, formerly known as the university farm school course, provides a three-year course for anyone 18 years of age or older who has the equivalent of a grammar school education and a two-year course for high school graduates. One year of instruction may be had by young men who can spare only that amount of time. The course gives intensive, practical training in a number of different fields, much of the work being done in laboratory, field, shop and stable.

There were other attractions, but they are too many and various to name. The affair was a great success and everyone seemed loth to leave the gay and brilliantly lighted grounds, and moved from group to group, laughing and chatting. The Legion deserves many thanks for having so stirred the community spirit—it is good for a town to get together every once in a while.

To Attend Big Convention of San Gabriel Auto Trade Association

Glendale experts among the membership of the San Gabriel Valley Automobile Trades' association will attend the big convention of the organization, opening today at Pasadena, and continuing through tomorrow.

Modern specialization, the breaking up of the old-time system of treatment in the automotive industry, was exemplified at Pasadena today in a great group of motor specialists. These various trained craftsmen—organized as the southern division of the California Automobile Trade association—started their annual convention in Pasadena Monday as guests of the local order, the Automobile Trade association of San Gabriel Valley.

Headquarters opened in the Maryland hotel. The sessions will last two days and in attendance will be some of the state's most distinguished leaders of the automobile fraternity, including Robert W. Martland of Oakland, state executive secretary, and George Haberfeld of Bakersfield, state president.

The most vital part of the convention—get-together and organization of the various crafts—will take place today. These individual crafts, including auto dealers, auto painters, radiator repairers and other auxiliary activities, will meet both in the morning and afternoon. On Tuesday there will be a general meeting featured by addresses by state officers. The convention business session will close at 12:30 Tuesday afternoon.

Although the serious business will be the rime work of the convention, a bit of play has not been neglected in the plans, and the local association, under the direction of President J. E. Fountain, has prepared some interesting entertainment. The entertainment program:

Monday—Noon to 1:30, get-together luncheon at Maryland; afternoon, motor trip for visiting women to Orange Grove avenue, Arroyo Seco and Busch sunken gardens; evening, informal banquet and dance in palm room, Hotel Maryland.

Tuesday—9:30 a. m., card party for visiting women at Maryland gardens; 12:30 to 2:30 p. m., luncheon and general entertainment for members and guests at Hotel Maryland.

GLENDALE DEALER IS BATTERY HEAD

Mr. Parker of the Auto Electric Service at 113 West Harvard is chairman of the battery and electrical craft of the San Gabriel Valley Auto Trades association. He carries the Stromberg carburetor and Exide battery.

The class was being examined by the local school inspector, and after a lapse of an hour or so the pupils were set to writing an essay on "Oliver Twist." While correcting the essays the inspector came across this sentence: "In the corner of the kitchen stood the statue of a policeman."

Having no recollection of reading this in Dickens' famous book he called the scholar and asked: "Miss Smith, would you mind telling me where you read this?" "Oh, certainly!" she answered. "It says in the book 'in the corner of the kitchen stood a stone copier.'"

If it were as easy to acquire habits of industry as it is to take on those of laziness, there wouldn't be work for more than half of those now employed.

When your battery is down and out, your car might as well be, and it is not only economy but common sense to get the best battery obtainable right off the bat, so to speak. Many automobile owners make the mistake of trying to save on their batteries, but in doing so generally make trouble for themselves and pocketbooks, and in the end the cheap battery becomes an expensive proposition. In the knowledge that our reputation as competent auto electricians is at stake, and that offering a poor battery at a low price would mean that a customer would call but once, we have taken particular pains to handle none but the best, and at a price that is not excessive. ## Truths in Epigram Angling is somewhat like poetry, men are to be born so.—Walton (1593-1683).

ONE SCURVY PRETENSE

Years ago the Hearst papers used to publish "Letters of a Gentleman." The writer was supposed to be an Englishman of the higher class. Everything attributed to him was offensive and insulting. The effort was made to create the impression that the insolent Englishman was a type. Thus after he had been made sufficiently obnoxious, the editor would use him as an excuse for excoriating all things British. It was this same editor who had written all the letters in the first place. He was a little astounded to find that his readers had accepted them as genuine, but since they had so accepted them, he made the most of their stupidity.

The old incident is worth recalling because it seems to have been revived under the caption "A Visiting Englishman." This supposed traveler is portrayed as a blatant ass. He has adverse criticism for every phase of American life, and sets forth his views with a cocksure impudence that would be annoying were not the fake of the whole thing so palpable. The screed leads up to the proposition that England and the United States become ultimately one nation.

"You have no style, no culture, very little education, no music, no art, no really great men at present," writes "A Visiting Englishman," but nevertheless is ready to forgive and forget, and take the Americans in and save them.

Words of this sort, ascribed to a Britisher, are nicely calculated to stir up animosity. Such, doubtless is their only purpose. It is just possible that an habitual reader of Hearst papers would be at a plane of intelligence permitting him to be fooled by an ancient and scurvy pretense.

THE PATIENT IS SILENT

The millionaire who has just been subjected to a gland operation is reported as being silent concerning the matter. Of course he has a right to regard the whole affair as his own concern. Perhaps he is aware that he has been made to cut a ridiculous figure. On either ground he is welcome to say nothing.

Some scientists have gone so far as to assert that many of the organs of the chimpanzee may be transplanted to the human frame. If this is true, it would be making a monkey of the owner of the frame. It would constitute an instance of self-conscious evolution, the man electing to step back closer to a simian ancestry, rather than to widen the gap.

Old age is inevitable. Many have fought against it. By maintaining serenity of mind, and paying reasonable attention to diet and sanitation, old age, as expressed in wrinkled senility, has been delayed. Nevertheless it comes. There is no reason why it should be unwelcome. It is part of the span of life. The effort to defeat it by stealing the virility of the lower animals, is at this stage of proceedings, rather disgusting and ridiculous.

RELATIVE VALUES

For a certain class of offenses against the speed laws, a common sentence of late has been "twenty-five dollars or twenty-five days." This does not seem to show, on the part of the court a nice appreciation of values. To many a speeder, a fine of $25 would be nothing. He would pay it with a grin and go his way, regarding the incident as a normal experience. On the other hand, a sentence of twenty-five days in jail would strike the offender as a terrible penalty.

If two drivers equally culpable were meted the sentence cited, and one was rich and one poor, the injustice of the decision must be apparent. The rich man would escape virtually without punishment. The poor man would be severely punished. Probably the latter would lose much more than the former would have lost even had he, too, been obliged to go to jail. There is every likelihood that a man unable to pay a $25 fine works for a living, and that absence from his work might cost him his job. Also his family would suffer from the imprisonment of the breadwinner.

The man who would regard a sentence of $25 fine, as in any way equal to a sentence of twenty-five days in jail, would be a singular and rare mortal. The average citizen would not go to jail twenty-five days if to avoid doing so would cost him a thousand dollars and he had the money. Nevertheless the jail sentence for speeders is commended highly, but it should fall upon the man with cash in his pocket just as heavily as on the less lucky person unable to produce a paltry $25.

FREAK LEGISLATION

Many laws coming properly under the head of freak legislation have been passed. Perhaps the measure introduced in Illinois forbidding the transplanting of glands from one living body to another belongs in this class. Assuredly it does in the sense that whether or not a freak in itself, it pertains to a freak.

By the terms of the proposed law, the man submitting to the operation in the role of beneficiary is to be subject to imprisonment and to a fine twenty times greater than the glandular purchase cost him. This, according to reports, would have set back a recently rejuvenated Chicago millionaire enough to have pulled him out of the millionaire set.

It is quite possible that the Illinois legislator is taking the situation too seriously. In all probability the whole gland business, so far as such experiments concerned, is a passing fad. If it is not a bit of foolishness which will die out as soon as the patched-up patient has found that his body still is as weak as its weakest point, doubtless something should be done about it. There is no particular desire that the aged wreck should be made whole anyhow. Certainly such desire could go to the extent of permitting the destruction of young virility, for the purpose of robbing senility of its natural characteristics. Age may think itself capable of fooling nature, but it isn't.

Germany, France, England, Etc.

By DR. FRANK CRANE

We often make surprising discoveries when we stop to think about how we are thinking.

We discover that we are thinking about things which do not exist at all, except as creations of our own mind.

For instance, there is no such thing as Germany, there is no such thing as France, there is no such thing as England, there is no such thing as America. All these words are ikons. They are little counters that we have made to think with. They are like the mud gods the heathen make so that they can have some kind of notion of God which they can grasp.

One of the earliest symptoms of the savage mind is the tendency to personify. One of the latest things arrived at by culture is the ability to get an abstract idea clearly visioned.

We personify things which are of a large and complex nature simply because our minds are too weak to see them as they are, and we must make an image of them.

The first religions were all idolatries. And the trouble with the world's thinking is that it is still idolatrous. We speak of Germany refusing to pay its debts, or Germany being the enemy of France, or Germany doing this, or wanting to do that. And we speak of France as being militaristic, or as having good taste, or as hating Germany, and so on. Really, there is no Germany. There are only people who live in the territory called Germany. There is no France, but only people who live in a certain territory and speak the French language. But they are all folks. Just folks. And down under the skin they are very much the same kind of folks that Americans are, or Japanese, or Chinese, or Australians.

I was in London a month recently and my greatest disappointment was that I never saw a typical Londoner anywhere except in my mind's eye.

If the Englishman, as we see him on the stage in America, with a drawl and a monocle and a peculiar air, exists in London, I never happened to see him. People I did see there are altogether such as we.

An Englishman travelling in the United States would have much difficulty in finding a typical American; that is, anybody that looks like Uncle Sam and chews tobacco and talks through his nose and says "wa!" and all that sort of thing.

What we need before we can have a successful League of Nations is a League of Thinkers. The fundamental necessity in the world is to clean up its thought.

Doubtless there are national characteristics and similarities as there are unquestionably national languages; but all these are surface matters. When you come down to the real people, they are about the same everywhere in the world.

They all want to eat and drink and love and play. They all want to get on. They all want to have their fellows think well of them. They all want to do right. There is no difference.

The one universal error the world needs to overcome is that certain virtues are the peculiar property of a peculiar race, and certain vices belong to other races. The truth is that all virtues belong to all people, and so do all vices. Their forms, their modes of expression and their degree may vary. But we are all human beings.

Some are black, some are white, some are yellow. Some are more developed than others. Some have more favorable environment than others. But God has made every human being out of the same kind of mud.

QUERIES.

R. J. Jones: "I wish you would comment on the following quotations from 'A Poor Wise Man' by Mary Roberts Rinehart, page 78: 'Of course you're being here won't keep me away. If you care to have me come,' page 135: 'I don't like to think of you seeing Akers.' I would also like to have you define saturnine and Nemesia in the following sentence on page 169: 'But he found a saturnine pleasure in being old Anthony's Nemesia.'"

Answer: The sentence quoted from page 78 calls for the possessive case of you, the proper form being, therefore, yours. You're is a contraction of you are. The object of to think in the second excerpt is seeing, and not you. You should be in the possessive case, modifying or limiting seeing; as, to think of your seeing Akers. It must be remembered, however, that an author in trying to create an atmosphere true to life is justified in injecting errors of speech into dialogue when these errors would be likely to occur in the speech of similar living characters in their every day conversation. The second error, therefore, is not different than that made by many speakers and writers, but it should be avoided; the first is an error in spelling. The definition of saturnine in the New Standard Dictionary is as follows: "Having a grave, gloomy, or morose disposition of character, formerly supposed to result from being born under the influence of the planet Saturn; heavy." The Standard's definition of Nemesia: "A goddess presiding over the normal and proper order of things, and visiting with retribution any violation of the natural equilibrium. She is thus a divinity of chastisement and vengeance. . . . Hence, retributive justice."

Vocabulary

"The effect of the privations and sufferings which he endured at this time were discernible to the last in his temper and his deportment."—Life of Samuel Johnson, by Thomas Babington Macaulay.

Discernible: "Capable of being discerned; perceptible; observable; distinguishable."—Century. Pronunciation: di-surn-i-b'l (i as in habit; u as in burn; s as in habit).—Standard, Century, Webster and Oxford.

For observation: discern (verb); discernment (noun); discernibleness (noun); discernibility (adverb); discerning (participial adjective); discerningly (adverb).

Origin: discernere—to separate, to distinguish, to discern (Latin).

THE LISTENING POST

Life is a thing of affirmation.
Not of negation.
It is a positive thing.
Not a negative one.
The progress of the world has been accomplished through action.
Not inaction.

Life is in motion and growth.
Not in immobility and inanimation.
Take in one hand a tiny cone.
And then cast your eyes upward at the giant redwood.
The germ of the redwood is in the cone.

Yet you hold the cone in the palm of your hand.
And the redwood towers three hundred feet in the air.
By the mysterious processes of growth the germ in the cone through root and leaf and stem transmuted soil and sun and air into bark and fibre and leaf and spreading limb.
That was growth.

And there against it is the chip of granite that has lain on the earth for countless thousands of years.
Never changing except perhaps to wear away by attrition into dust.
One is a thing of growth and affirmation.
The other of inaction and immobility.

It is not enough in life to say: "I will not do this or that."
It is necessary to say: "I will do this or that."
Restraint is necessary.
But there is no real growth except by affirmation.

It is not enough to say: "I will not be unfriendly."
It is necessary to say: "I will be friendly."
It is not enough to say: "I will not hinder."
It is necessary to say: "I will help."
It is not enough to say: "I will do no harm."
It is necessary to say: "I will do good."

The flag that floats over us is a thing of affirmation.
It is a positive thing.
It makes a declaration of liberty and justice.
And it defends and upholds that declaration.

Life is action.
Growth.
Affirmation.
A reaching up and spreading out and going forward.
Light is a thing of affirmation.
Darkness is a thing of negation.
Merely absence of light.

The great ship that crosses the ocean is a thing of affirmation.
The derelict that flounders in the sea is a thing of negation.
One moves in a determined course.
One drifts purposelessly.

It is not enough to say: "This day have I done no one harm."
It is necessary to say: "This day I have done some one useful service."
By affirmation we prove faith.
By negation we deny purpose.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

"The curious thing about Russia is that among all the world's great upheavals, this has been the revolution most ably managed, with the least violence."

The curious thing about Brisbane is that he will persist in drooling such nonsense. The fact that his assertions have no basis in truth seems to perturb him not at all.

As to the aggregate of crimes of violence, the world is ill-informed. It knows there has been much, and of a ghastly character.

What constitutes successful management? This revolution, judged by results, has been utter and tragic failure. It has accomplished nothing for the benefit of the people. It has made their burden harder to bear. It has exalted Lenin to a point at which Brisbane slanders him with praise, to be echoed by the parlor bolshevist.

If success is to be counted in the bones of starved peasants, by all means let the bones be utilized for erection of a monument to the greatness of Lenin. This could be made doubly impressive by being set in the area once fertile, but so ingeniously changed into a sterile desolation.

Or perhaps success is to be discerned in the fact that no nation on earth can trust Russia, that it is insufficient unto itself, and yet cut off. Cut off, why? Because it has violated every tenet of honor, and boasted of it; because it is incapable of giving a pledge that could be conceived of as given in good faith; because it is the declared enemy of government as constituted, and proposes to become a world government, with its own brutal regime of tyranny as a model.

Brisbane is not deluded. He merely chooses to be queer.

Having several months of their fifty-year terms, the San Francisco thugs known as the Howard street gang, are asking for pardon. This is not a circumstance likely in any manner to embarrass the governor.

Several members of the same gang were hanged in a somewhat impromptu fashion by earnest citizens at Santa Rosa. There has been a feeling ever since that only the number thus disposed of really got what they deserved.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

For a long time I've been a follower of heresy. I have believed that there are some stumps around which the devil cannot be beaten. But I've been convinced. There isn't any stick in the world so tightly cleft that one cannot wriggle out of it, if one only will. And to this I set my hand and seal.

Jim and Mary are the occasion for this outburst. Nice, lovable, kind, jolly people, both of them. But Jim hates Mary's family with a furious and enduring hatred. He says that each and every member—barring Mary—squawks like a parrot instead of talking. He says they have been favored by luck, but that if they depended upon their natural ability they would have starved to death years ago. He says that for fifteen years he has been compelled to avoid the town in which they live—a town he likes very much indeed—because he cannot bear to be humiliated by public acknowledgement that he married into such a family.

"And how about your folks?" Mary asks. Whereupon she proceeds to answer the question. Jim never speaks of Mary's people until nature can bear no more. I'll say that for him. And Mary never refers to Jim's people until she must either unbottle or burst. But at regular intervals there is a grand, cat-and-dog, howl-and-holler battle in the Jim and Mary household, which usually results in a drawn battle. This has been, so far as I know, the one subject on which the pair have disagreed in almost twenty years of married life. They have been almost too sweet to each other, with this single exception. They make love to each other in public, which is unforgivable, no matter how new or old the marital tie may be.

"And who gets our money when we die?" they began to ask each other a few months ago. Not that there is so very much money, but Jim swore he'll never permit Mary's folks to get it, if she outlives. And Mary swore likewise in reverse. Because of certain business complications the problem seemed unsolvable. The one who outlived the other would have the unquestioned legal authority to do what he or she wanted with whatever money was left. But Jim and Mary have solved it.

They have turned their money into a double-barreled annuity, and no one can inherit, and peace reigns again in the Jim and Mary home.

And when that sort of a quarrel can be composed there is no quarrel in the world that cannot be smoothed out if the quarrellers only will.

JUST BETWEEN OURSELVES

By DELLA E. STEWART

Even temper is such a lubricator of life. To be able to hold one's poise when physical powers are not up to standard and the day is filled with perplexities and annoyances—what a test this is of will power and personality! And what a comfortable, well-beloved member of the family it is that stands such a test! What a desirable business associate!

We all admire this in others. We actually expect it of them and criticize them for its lack. Yet we sometimes fail to see the necessity of responding in like manner. Don't we? It's most surprising the way some of us expect evenness of temperament in all about us, while at the same time we are exhibiting exactly the opposite characteristics.

"I don't mean anything by it, it's just my way," we say in self-extenuation. But it's a big question whether any one has a right to a "way" that will continually cloud the day for others. Also, what a senseless thing it is to act continually in a way that, according to our own statements, "doesn't mean anything."

Why not act in a way that does mean something? Why not drive away the belittling cloud of selfishness that keeps us from seeing that we can't make our ways "mean nothing" to others just by saying that they don't? Why should we go constantly stumbling through life, wounding those who love us and whom at heart we love, pandering to our love of self-assertion, our own sense of self?

Self-exuses amount to little except to show our own weakness. Why not feel a sense of shame in declaring by word or action that we don't care whether we wound or not?

WAVES USED TO GUARD VESSELS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Improvement to shipping and better conditions for members of U. S. lighthouse service have resulted from the use of the radio, according to the department of commerce.

Formerly, a tender would be dispatched from a lighthouse depot to replace a buoy. After a trip of perhaps several hundred miles it would often be necessary to repeat a journey to take of a buoy in the same general vicinity. The radio is eliminating waste of time, money and man as the vessels can now be informed wherever they are.

Last month the department of commerce authorized small additions to the radio equipment of its larger sea-going tenders to enable the crews to receive the broadcasting services for instruction and entertainment purposes, and consideration is now being given to making some similar of the radio equipment placed on the lightships during war, but not used since the war, as well as on the principal outside lightships where a radio service is now maintained. These latter, such as Narset and Diamond Shoals lightships, are the output radio stations on our coasts, reporting incoming vessels, forwarding messages, and giving word of vessels in distress. With the cooperation of the navy, radio telephones have recently been installed at several of the lightships in Alaska.

According to George R. Putnam, commissioner of lighthouses, radio would be a great boon in relieving lonely and monotonous life of faithful keepers at isolated stations, both in lightships and at lighthouses. The keepers of the lighthouses remain at their posts three years on a stretch. They have been without mail for ten months. At Tillamook rock light, the Pacific coast, bad weather has prevented direct communication with the shore for periods of seven weeks at a time. On the off-shore lightships supplies are received usually only once a month, and the tenders often work in remote localities. Relaxation at these stations depends chiefly upon libraries furnished by the government and donated magazines with an occasional phonograph presented by a thoughtful friend.

CORRECT REGENERATIVE TUNING

A regenerative receiving set is not hard to tune, once the operator gets used to the complicated controls. Probably not more than 2 or 3 percent of the radio fans realize the importance of tuning the primary circuit to the exact frequency of the secondary. When this is done, a surprising amount of amplification is obtained, and signals are much sharper, in fact, stations not wanted can usually be tuned out. The procedure is as follows: Set the coupling at about 35 or 40 degrees. Start the tube oscillating by increasing the inductance of the plate variometer or tickler, whichever is used. Start tuning the secondary condenser (as grid variometer) from zero to maximum, at the same time tuning the primary condenser and inductance until the click is heard in the phones. If no click is heard, use more taps on the primary. With close coupling two clicks will be heard a few degrees apart. The looser the coupling, the closer will be the clicks. On either side of the clicks, continuous wave signals can be received. For phone signals, the operator should decrease the plate variometer until voice or music is clear. Spark signals may be received at the point between the two clicks. The primary condenser should preferably be shunted across the primary coil as this gives louder signals and the series connection. This method is applicable to both short and long receivers. The back of the panels should always be coated with tin foil, or other metal to eliminate body capacity effects. The foil should, of course, be grounded. If a secondary condenser is used, capacity effects of the hand may sometimes be eliminated by grounding the stationary plate. The connection from the rotary

Ordinary Radio Set Amplified 100,000 Times by This Remarkable Invention

Major Edward H. Armstrong, formerly in charge of the American radio service in France, has perfected a device that amplifies an ordinary receiving set 100,000 times and eliminates the use of outside aerials. This super-regenerative circuit, with three vacuum tubes, gives the same results as an ordinary receiving set would give with nine vacuum tubes. Another feature of the invention is its simplicity. It has but three adjustments.

SUCCESSFUL TEST ON MOVING TRAIN

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.—The Daily Oklahoman cooperating with the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad, the Oklahoma radio shop and the government station at Post Field, Okla., accomplished recently a feat yet to be equalled by any other radio broadcasting station or railroad—the feat of receiving and transmitting messages on a moving train from a distance greater than 25 miles from the broadcasting station.

Equipped with a regenerative receiving set with four stages of amplification, a loud speaker, a 100-watt transmitter and a novel antenna, consisting of four, 4-wire cage antennas strung from one car to the other, the car was attached to Frisco train No. 9 at Oklahoma City on the morning of May 30 and hauled to Lawton, Okla., a distance of 100 miles.

At Mustang, Okla., 30 miles from Oklahoma City, a severe electrical storm was encountered but signals were received and little static encountered. In fact the signals and music came in so loud that they almost drowned out the static. Constant communication was kept up between WKY, Oklahoma City, and DM6, Post Field, and the phone conversations were heard with great clarity.

At Cement, Okla., 60 miles from Oklahoma City and 40 miles from Post Field, the signals, music, weather reports and Liberty bond quotations were received with as much clearness as they were at Wheatland, Okla., only 16 miles from Oklahoma City.

With a thousand reasons why the apparatus should not have worked and only a few why it should, the entire run of 100 miles with constant communications kept up between WKY-DM6 and the train, marks an epoch in the use of radio on moving trains.

BELIEVE RADIO CRYSTALS

ARE FOUND IN THE WEST DENVER, Colo.—A mineral discovery recently made in the Burns mine, San Juan county, Colorado, is expected to result in the establishment of a new industry in Colorado, the production of radio crystals.

The profits of such an enterprise would far exceed those in mining of gold and silver. Quite recently a streak of steel-galena was encountered in the Broadgauge tunnel, which was projected to penetrate Jones mountain to a depth of 3000 feet. This ore was very much different in appearance than other galena ores.

In a test made at the United Radio corporation it was found that the crystals were equal to, and in many ways superior to any crystal detector.

SINGLE WIRE ANTENNA BEST FOR CRYSTAL SET

Remember that an indoor aerial will not work efficiently for any distance with a crystal set, so do not try it. A single wire about 100 feet long and as high as possible is the best aerial that can be used for receiving. Three and four strand aerials, the cage aerial and other types will not help in receiving. Save your money and time by erecting a single wire aerial only. Galena comes in as many different grades as it is possible to imagine. Beginners who cannot hear any signals will do well to purchase several pieces of this mineral before complaining. Sometimes by simply changing the mineral a set that has been a failure will at once become a wonderful success.

Be patriotic this year, above all years. Celebrate the Fourth of July. Fireworks at 52 S. Raymond avenue. Best assortment in the city of Pasadena.—Adv.

TO USE RADIO IN PSYCHIC EXPERIMENTS

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, author and psychic investigator, is shown learning the intricacies of the radio telephone from Mr. F. D. Waller at Atlantic City, N. J. Sir Arthur became so enthusiastic he ordered an elaborate set for installation in his English home and believes it may aid him in his psychic experiments.

MOOSE WILL HEAR DEDICATION TALK

MOOSEHEART, Ill. — A radio broadcasting station will shortly be established by the Loyal Order of Moose here on the new Campanile or bell tower to be dedicated during the week commencing August 21. Speeches made at the monthly meetings of the board of governors of the Loyal order will be broadcasted so that all the lodges of the Moose can pick up the proceedings. It is planned that each lodge room be equipped with a suitable apparatus for receiving speeches and matter sent out from Mooseheart; enabling them to keep in direct touch with national headquarters.

RADIO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE FORMED

NEW YORK—One of the latest steps taken in radio activities was the forming here of a National radio chamber of commerce with headquarters in New York city and district offices in Chicago. Alexander Eisenmann is president of the new organization. The purpose of this association is to remedy certain conditions that have arisen in the radio industry as a result of its tremendous growth in such a short space of time. All manufacturers of radio apparatus are eligible to membership. The original group consisted of about 15 manufacturers. About 20 additional members have been added by invitation. New members will be eligible only after their apparatus has been passed upon by a board of five members.

Concerns who have been organized purely for the purpose of stock jobbing will be excluded. A credit bureau will also be organized for the exchange of credit information.

BALLET UNIQUE DANCE ROLE "RADIO SPRITE"

CHICAGO—Miss Nancy Hayes, of the Glady's high studio appeared as the "Radio Sprite" in a group of the ballet unique at the Studebaker theatre. Two hundred dancers participated, including Eleanor and Hugo Bendel, Gloria Thayer, Dorothy Myers and other well-known dancers.

CORPORATION WILL PUT AIRPLANES IN HOMES

CHICAGO, Ill.—The "own your own" crusade is given some impetus by the Mutual homebuilding corporation which will install free of charge a complete radio outfit in every bungalow, flat and apartment and home which it builds or finances.

The plan offered is to issue a building contract on 10 or 15 percent of the cash cost of the building as a first payment. The purchaser takes possession of the building as soon as completed and pays for it at the rate of 1 percent a month on the unpaid balance. This includes both the payment on the principal and interest.

STARTING OVER AGAIN

JAMES W. FOLEY

The Teacher came up with a smile and a word
And a heart that with love and with sympathy stirred.
She looked o'er the shoulder and saw the slate wet
With tears and the sums all undone even yet.
The pluses and minuses all through the sum
Were many and yet would the answer not come,
So she stroked the head gently and said to him then:
"Let's wipe off the slate and start over again!"

The poor little head with its curls all awry
From puzzling with sums and the look in the eye
That was weary and sad and the face all forlorn,
And the lad who so wished he had never been born
To struggle with sums, and the tears on the sum
That was blotted and smeared and no answer would come,
And spoke that soft voice that was comforting then:
"Let's wipe it all out and start over again."

And so let it be, when the stern struggle comes,
When the problems of life take the place of the sums,
When the pluses and minuses strewn all about
And the poor puzzled hearts of us nearly worn out;
May some Comforter come, as the Teacher who dried
Those dear, boyish eyes, and helped us to divide,
Or to add or subtract, and who said to us then:

DIVINE ZEAL IS DISCUSSED BY DR. FUNK

GLENDALIANS OF SESPEE CLUB TO PROFIT

Discourses at 1st Lutheran Church Upon "Who Are the Heathen?"

In speaking on the subject of "Divine Enthusiasm," Dr. Funk discussed the question "Who are heathen?" at the First Lutheran church yesterday.

On the last Lord's day we did beseech you not to treat our baptized children as though they were little heathen. These little children, who are brought up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord, like Samuel and Timothy, may never know the time that they did not love the Lord. Such a baptized child is a true member of the church, and does not need to be converted, "for of such is the Kingdom of God."

This raises the question, who are heathen? First, I would say that all children who have not been dedicated or given to God in holy baptism, are heathen. To illustrate, there is a man living in California who has no use for the church. His wife is just like him, so in that respect they make a good pair. But they had a child.
The mother and father did not go to church, and refused to have the child baptized. Now, what kind of a baby was that? I will say that it was a heathen baby. And, moreover, if the child is a heathen, how about the parents? If these people lived in Africa or in India, and lived exactly the same way,
no one would raise the question;
but because they are living in America some folks think it is awful to call such nice people heathen. But the fact is they are worse heathen than those unfortunate people who live in India or Africa. They have repeatedly heard the invitation, and are either neglecting or rejecting the terms for peace and pardon.

Again, we hold all adults who have not confessed Christ in holy baptism are heathen, and that includes some mighty fine people.
Remember that Aristotle and Plato,
the most learned men of their day, were heathen. Alexander the Great was a heathen. Nicodemus, who came to Jesus by night, was a member of the supreme court, and a ruler of the Jews, but he was a heathen.

The enthusiasm which God puts in the hearts of men is the need of the hour. Because Martin Luther was filled with divine enthusiasm 20,000 to 30,000 people came to hear him preach from the balcony of a hotel. Moses had a stammering tongue, but God made him the leader of a mighty nation and a law-giver for the ages to come.
Divine enthusiasm is a patient and persistent force. It was this persistent stick-to-it-iveness that enabled Cyrus W. Field to meet defeat for 13 years. They said,
"Field is a fool, a robber, and a thief," but he succeeded in laying the Atlantic cable. Paul said,
"This one thing I do," and with Divine enthusiasm he did it.

The prison chaplain inquired of a newcomer what had brought about his downfall.
"Well, you see, sir," began the man, "I married a new woman."
The chaplain was all sympathy.
"The new woman," he declared,
"is the curse of this age. Thinking only of pleasure, she neglects her home and drives her husband into desperate courses. And to what crime did she drive you?"

"Well, you see, sir," said the man, "I married a new woman and the old one got me on a charge of bigamy."

DIRECT MAIL JUDGE KERRIGAN SERVICE FOR TUJUNGA

SEEKS SUPPORT IN SOUTH

Two Deliveries a Day by Stage From Los Angeles, Is Plan

TUJUNGA, June 26.—Beginning on July 1, Tujunga will receive direct mail service from Los Angeles twice daily. The Verdugo Hills transportation company has been awarded the transportation contract by the postoffice department, and it will also distribute mail to La Canada, La Crescenta and Sun-land. Mail will leave Los Angeles at 7:15 a. m. and 1:15 p. m., and will leave Sunland at 10:15 a. m. and 5:15 p. m., according to a probable schedule already worked out.

There is also a report that Tu-junga will be made a distributing point for mail addressed to rural routes in this district.

The comparatively poor mail service which Tujunga has had in the past has been a drawback, and it is believed that the direct service and the possible rural route distribution will be of greater advantage than any other improvement could be.

A petition asking the reappointment of F. M. Ashby as postmaster and containing nearly 150 names, has been forwarded to Congressman Lineberger. The raise in class of the Tujunga office necessitates a postmaster appointed by the president. Mr. Ashby has been postmaster here for several years, and his popularity is widespread.

To Test New Plan Popularity of a plan to have the stages of the Verdugo Hills transportation company meet the cars of the Pacific Electric line at Glendale to transfer passengers, is to be tested for 30 days, beginning July 1. It is planned during this time to give passengers a choice of transferring to the cars or riding all the way on the stage. By this method the company will determine the advisability of making a change in its present passenger arrangements.

There is a little five-year-old girl in Chicago who appreciates her mother partly because of self-appreciation.

"Mamma," she said the other morning, "guess what Mabel's mother said about you at the party last night."

"I don't know, I'm sure. What was it, dear?" asked her mother.

"Why," was the reply, "she said you was the sweetest little girl's mother in Chicago."

committee, heartily endorses the candidacy of Mr. Brinkop for that office, and urges the voters of the state to support him."

Campaign to Start July
First, Through This District

Judge Frank H. Kerrigan, associate justice of the district court of appeal, candidate for one of the two long terms expiring in the state supreme court, is now on an extensive tour of the San Joaquin valley. Preparations for an extended sojourn in the southern part of the state will be made upon his return to San Francisco July 1.

During his occupancy of the appellate court bench for the last 16 years Judge Kerrigan frequently has sat for supreme court judges during their absences from duty, thus obtaining an experience which,
it is pointed out, admirably fits him for the high office he is seeking at the next election.

A previous experience of 12 years is administering justice in other courts is declared by his adherents to be further evidence of his capability for assuming still more important duties.

Campaign headquarters for the southern part of the state have been opened in Los Angeles.

SEEK 1,000 NEW MEMBERS HERE

"One thousand members will be enrolled by the Sons of the Revolution in California before the summer is over. This will shortly be an accomplished fact," declared Vice-President P. W. Banning yesterday.

"Those planning to join the society should make special effort to do so at once, so their names will appear among the first 1000."

"Special prominence to this first 1000 members will be given in a forthcoming publication of the society which will have wide distribution throughout California and in all parts of the United States."

"No other state society has begun to accomplish so far this year what the California society is doing in new membership growth.
California has the fastest growing society, Sons of the Revolution, in the United States."

"Special effort is made to complete the papers of those planning to join. The wonderful history reference library of the society affords a source of information for those needing it which is not equaled by the library of any other patriotic society anywhere in the United States."

If everybody were as rich as he thinks he ought to be, it would destroy a lot of the fun the rich
now have in bestowing charity.

My Message

(An answer to James W. Foley's poem in the Glendale Daily Press.
By Hiram A. Graves, Verdugo Woodlands.)

If I had a little colmn
In some paper every day,
I'd refrain from being solemn Nor would be unduly gay.
Far too many anxious thinkers Lend themselves to doleful thought;
While some "doggerelistic" tinkers
Frequently drive us bestraited.

Now, no mental strings restrain me;

Nothing orders me around.
I am free to seek and find me
Something that I can expound.
At the break of day, each morning,
I arise to glorious thrills;
With the golden sun adorning Our august Verdugo Hills.

Let the world seek wisdom's teaching

Where and when it may be found
For with trained academicians
All communities abound.
If, perhaps, I strive and blunder,
'Tis but natural, you see,
If I had my choice, you wonder What my message then would be?

I would strive to voice my gladness
To the world each happy day;
Neither would a hint of sadness
Vitate my tenebrous lay.
I would urge the cultivation
Of the art of love divine;
And would seek the consecration
Of my task, at nature's shrine.

League of California, one of the most powerful and influential
